The Department of Theatre offers outstanding theatre training in a liberal arts context. Our undergraduate programs are grounded in the philosophy that good theatre artists are thinking theatre artists. Our students work intensively on acquiring theatre skills and knowledge in our classrooms, studios, and laboratories. They receive small-school individual attention while benefiting from big-school academic choices and a vast array of programs. KU theatre students often undertake secondary study in areas such as film, business, journalism, art, and English. The Department of Theatre is internationally recognized for its graduate education. Our M.A. and Ph.D. programs are unique for combining intensive study of theatre and performance with the production training necessary for theatre careers in higher education and the professional sector. Our groundbreaking M.F.A. in Scenography is unique for having an integrated approach to scenic, lighting, and costume design that prepares artists for professional and academic careers.

Highly Qualified Faculty Scholars and Artists
The faculty of the Department of Theatre are creative artists and researchers working in the areas of theatre stagecraft, performance, design, dramatic literature, dramaturgy, pedagogy, as well as the historical, literary, and cultural study of theatre and performance. Our faculty include award-winning teachers and internationally recognized scholars and artists working in professional theatre, authoring books and establishing research and outreach programs.

Support for Students
The Department of Theatre offers students financial aid in the form of dozens of scholarships, awards, and teaching assistantships each year to graduate and undergraduate students. A strong community of support is found in the Friends of the Theatre (FROTH), a community group dedicated to supporting the mission of the University Theatre. Once students graduate our program they join a wide network of theatre Alumni and Professional Advisors that work in all aspects of academe, the entertainment industry and non-profit organizations.

Undergraduate Programs
The department offers undergraduate degree programs leading to a Bachelor of Arts, a Bachelor of General Studies and a Bachelor of Fine Arts in theatre design.

Undergraduates may choose from 5 emphases: the B.A. or B.G.S with an emphasis in Theatre, Culture, and Society; the B.A. or B.G.S. with an emphasis in Performance; and a B.F.A. in Theatre Design. The concentration in Theatre, Culture, and Society acquaints students with the overall field of theatre and prepares students interested in graduate study. The concentration in Performance prepares students for professional work in theatre and for M.F.A. study in acting or directing.

The B.F.A in Theatre Design is intended as general preparation for the professional designer of scenery, costumes or lighting working in theatre and/or film or as preparation for graduate studies.

The B.A., B.G.S. and B.F.A. requirements are quite different, so it is important to consult with the Undergraduate Advisor in the Department of Theatre. Theatre production experience is provided through coursework and practicum opportunities in the University Theatre.
