MINOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

The minor is a general political science minor that allows students to take coursework across the different subfields in political science. This provides options to students beyond the major to broaden student learning and understanding in an important discipline that will impact their lives beyond college. Students in more than one minor offered through the political science department cannot overlap more than one course between two minors.

Requirements for the Minor

The minor requires 18 credit hours of coursework in Political Science, 12 of which must be taken at the junior/senior level. Students in more than one minor offered through the political science department cannot overlap more than one course between two minors. (See also general regulations for minors in the Undergraduate tab of the Liberal Arts and Sciences section of the catalog)
