Graduation requirements and regulations for every academic program are provided in this catalog. Degree requirements and course descriptions are subject to change. In most cases, you will use the catalog of the year you entered KU (see your advisor (http://www.advising.ku.edu) for details). Other years' catalogs (http://catalog.ku.edu/archives)

Bachelor of Social Work (http://catalog.ku.edu/social-welfare/bsw)
Master of Social Work (http://catalog.ku.edu/social-welfare/msw)
Doctor of Philosophy in Social Work (http://catalog.ku.edu/social-welfare/phd)

The School of Social Welfare

The University of Kansas School of Social Welfare offers the only comprehensive program in social work in Kansas: the professional degrees of

• Doctor of Philosophy in Social Work (http://catalog.ku.edu/social-welfare/phd),
• Master of Social Work (http://catalog.ku.edu/social-welfare/msw), and
• Bachelor of Social Work (http://catalog.ku.edu/social-welfare/bsw).

KU's School of Social Welfare is an excellent place to pursue your interests in professional social work education. It is the oldest school of social welfare in the state and the only one to offer degree preparation from undergraduate through doctoral degrees in social work.

Social work education began at KU in 1937. The Master of Social Work program, established in Lawrence and at the KU Medical Center in Kansas City in 1946, has been continuously accredited since 1948. The Bachelor of Social Work degree has been awarded since 1971. In 1974, the B.S.W. program became one of the first in the nation to receive accredited status. The Council on Social Work Education (http://www.cswe.org), the accrediting body for social work education, most recently reaccredited the B.S.W. and M.S.W. programs in 2010. The doctoral program admitted its first students in 1981.

KU's Master of Social Work program consistently ranks among the top U.S. national public universities, according to U.S. News & World Report's “America's Best Graduate Schools”. The School of Social Welfare is recognized internationally as an innovator in social work theory development and in research that makes positive contributions to our communities.

The school is housed on KU’s Lawrence campus in Twente Hall, named for nationally renowned social work educator Esther Twente, who chaired the social work department from 1946 to 1957. The school also offers the M.S.W. program at the KU Edwards Campus in Overland Park, a suburb of Kansas City, and in western Kansas in collaboration with Fort Hays State University and Garden City Community College. The B.S.W. Edwards 2+2 program is offered at Kansas City Kansas Community College.

Mission and Themes

Mission

The threefold mission of the University of Kansas School of Social Welfare is to educate students at the B.S.W., M.S.W., and Ph.D. levels, to conduct scholarly inquiry that contributes to the knowledge base of the profession, and to provide leadership in formulating social policy and developing service delivery strategies and systems.

In the B.S.W. and M.S.W. programs, students learn generalist and advanced-level social work practice methods and skills that advance the empowerment and well-being of individuals, families, and communities. At the Ph.D. level, students are equipped with the necessary skills for critical inquiry and scholarship to become leaders in the social work profession in academic, research, and public policy realms.

Guiding Principles and Themes

The KU School of Social Welfare is committed to practicing educational approaches and conducting scholarship that directly and explicitly enhance the connection of theory and concepts to the needs of clients and the demands of everyday practice. This commitment flows from the values and ethical principles of the profession and is enriched by our commitment to these 4 themes:

• A focus on people's strengths
• An understanding of human diversity
• The promotion of social and economic justice
• The development of a critical perspective

Strengths

A perspective that recognizes, mobilizes, and supports the inherent strengths of individuals, families, neighborhoods, organizations, and communities to discover and develop their own and communal resources and assets in their struggle for a better quality of life.

Diversity

Understanding, valuing, and engaging the broad range of differences and commonalities that are brought to the interaction among social workers, clients, and the social environment and that reflect clients' culture, ethnicity, race, geography, gender, social class, religion, sexual orientation, and physical and mental abilities — particularly when those differences are the cause for discrimination.

Social and Economic Justice

A commitment to promoting fairness, equality of power, and equity of resources based on a complex understanding of the effects of economic, political, and social structures on people's life chances, particularly related to economic inequality and the allocation of necessary social resources.

Critical Perspective

The capacity to engage in a deliberate and continuing examination of the assumptions underlying the theories, methods, and approaches used by social work in understanding and responding to human needs.

The Programs

At the University of Kansas, students have the opportunity to prepare for professional careers in social work at the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral levels. The curriculum is carefully laid out to bring students from the introductory level through advanced study in clinical social work practice or social work administrative and advocacy practice. Under the umbrella of a practice orientation, the programs are structured to support the essential themes of the school, which focus on people's strengths, celebrate human diversity, promote social and economic justice, and provide a critical perspective.
Classroom work is one half of professional preparation; field placements are the other half. Placements in social service agencies offer students the opportunity to apply skills learned in the classroom. B.S.W. and M.S.W. students spend time in practicum settings throughout the region. Our students provide more than 250,000 hours of service to underserved populations through practicum experiences.

Professional and Community Education
To help our graduates and other professionals maintain proficiency in practice skills and to expand their capacities, the school offers a wide range of courses and workshops through the Professional and Community Education Program (http://socwel.ku.edu/alumni/pce/intro).

These offerings are designed specifically for the practicing professional. Courses are developed in conjunction with the local human services community. They range from management skills to sophisticated clinical strategies. Evening and weekend classes are offered with a variety of credit and noncredit options. For information on the program and its offerings, please contact the program director at 913-897-8550.

Student Handbook
During orientation, students who are admitted to degree-seeking status are directed to the student handbook (http://socwel.ku.edu/resources/ forstudents/academic-handbooks), which contains full descriptions of policies and other details.

The Profession
Through the long history of the profession, social workers have understood the desperation of the homeless, the despair of the poor, the ostracism suffered by the mentally ill, the pain of those who are abused and neglected, and the humiliation endured by victims of discrimination. By carrying out this special commitment to helping vulnerable groups and individuals, social workers believe that society as a whole is strengthened. At the same time, social workers celebrate differences among people and believe that respecting those differences — whether of race, culture, religion, gender, sexual orientation, or age — enriches the quality of life for all.

Purpose and Objectives of Social Work
Social work is a vital, evolving profession that changes with the world in which we live. The purpose of social work is to promote or restore a mutually beneficial interaction between individuals and society in order to improve the quality of life for everyone. Social workers support the following values:

- Individuals should contribute as effectively as they can to their own well-being and to the social welfare of others in their immediate environment, as well as to the collective society.
- Transactions between individuals and others in their environment should enhance the dignity, individuality, and self-determination of everyone. People should be treated humanely and fairly.

Social workers focus on person-and-environment interaction. To carry out their purpose, they work with people to achieve the following objectives:

- Help people increase their competence and problem-solving abilities.
- Help people obtain resources.
- Make organizations responsive to people.
- Facilitate interaction between individuals and others in their environment.
- Influence interactions between organizations and institutions.
- Influence social and environmental policy.

Social workers are educated to provide services to individuals, families, groups, and communities; to develop, administer, and evaluate programs and organizations; and to participate in policy formulation and planning at the local, state, and national levels.

NASW Code of Ethics
As a guide to professional conduct, the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Social Workers (http://www.socialworkers.org) represents the fundamental values of the profession. The National Association of Social Workers is the largest organization of professional social workers in the world, with a membership of 166,000.

The Code of Ethics identifies 6 values that inform the following principles:

- Social workers’ primary goal is to help people in need and to address social problems.
- Social workers challenge social injustice.
- Social workers respect the inherent dignity and worth of the person.
- Social workers recognize the central importance of human relations.
- Social workers behave in a trustworthy manner.
- Social workers practice within their areas of competence and develop and enhance their professional expertise.

View the entire Code of Ethics (http://www.socialworkers.org) or request a copy.

Faculty
The faculty’s scholarly interests, as reflected in teaching, research, and publications, span a wide range, including health, mental health, child welfare, adult and juvenile justice, gerontology, multiculturalism, women’s issues, history of social work, public policy analysis, homelessness, gender equity, poverty reduction and asset building, and social administration.

School of Social Welfare faculty members hold doctoral degrees in social work, social welfare, psychology, and other fields. In addition, outstanding social work practitioners serve as part-time classroom instructors, and 280 social work practitioners serve as practicum instructors.

Faculty members serve the public interest and the profession of social work as consultants and board members in professional and citizens’ organizations.

Undergraduate Programs
The undergraduate program (http://socwel.ku.edu/academics/degrees/bsw/bsw/overview) prepares graduates for generalist social work practice. The program defines generalist practice as maintaining focus on the interface between systems — individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities.

The B.S.W. Edwards 2+2 program also is offered at Kansas City Kansas Community College. If you are interested, contact the student services coordinator at 913-288-7304 to make an appointment.

University Honors Program
The school encourages qualified undergraduates to participate in the University Honors Program (http://www.honors.ku.edu).

Graduate Programs
The Master of Social Work program (http://socwel.ku.edu/academics/degrees/msw/regular/overview), established in Lawrence and at the KU Medical Center in Kansas City in 1946, has been continuously accredited since 1948. KU’s M.S.W. program ranked 15th among U.S. national public universities, according to U.S. News & World Report’s “America’s Best Graduate Schools” rankings for 2014.

The doctoral program (http://socwel.ku.edu/academics/degrees/phd/overview) admitted its first students in 1981. It prepares students to be leaders of the profession through advanced research, scholarship, and teaching.

Financial Aid
To be eligible for financial aid, applicants should complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by February 15 (March 1 is the priority deadline), even before receiving information about acceptance. FAFSA materials can be obtained from all college or university financial aid offices or submitted online (http://www.fafsa.ed.gov). The School of Social Welfare uses the FAFSA need determination level in making awards. For more information regarding financial aid visit the KU Office of Financial Aid & Scholarship (http://affordability.ku.edu).

For Ph.D. students (http://socwel.ku.edu/academics/degrees/phd/financialsupport), financial assistance, including tuition and significant salary, is available from the school through teaching and research assistantships in research and training areas such as adult and children’s mental health, aging, child welfare, corrections, social policy, spiritual diversity, or other areas of faculty grants and interests.

Scholarships and Awards
The School of Social Welfare has several sources of financial assistance available to students who meet the various criteria. Awards are made on an annual basis and are applied directly towards tuition and fees in most instances. All students interested in applying are required to submit a Free Application for Federal Student Aid by March 1. All recipients are expected to maintain a minimum grade point average of 3.0. Students must renew their applications each year they wish to be considered.

Undergraduate University Regulations
For information about university regulations, see Regulations (http://catalog.ku.edu/regulations) or visit the University of Kansas Policy Library (http://www.policy.ku.edu).

For information about school regulations refer to the student handbook (http://socwel.ku.edu/resources/forstudents/academic-handbooks).

Change of School
To change from one school to another, you must submit a Change of School form in the B.S.W. program office. Follow the deadlines on the form.

Students are admitted for fall semester only. The priority application deadline is February 1. No applications will be considered after June 15. Additional information is available from the B.S.W. program office.

Graduation with Distinction
The top 10 percent of the graduates of the B.S.W. program each year receive degrees with distinction.

Honor Roll (Dean’s List)
Students who have been accepted into the B.S.W. program, enrolled in a minimum of 9 credit hours during the semester, and earned a semester grade-point average in the top 20 percent of their class (junior or senior) qualify for the KU School of Social Welfare B.S.W. Dean’s List.

Guidelines for Conduct
Refer to the student handbook (http://socwel.ku.edu/resources/forstudents/academic-handbooks) for specific information.

Required Work in Residence
No baccalaureate degree is granted to an undergraduate who has not completed at least 30 semester credit hours of residence courses at KU. No exceptions are granted.

To earn a bachelor’s degree from KU, you must complete the last 30 hours of credit for the degree by resident study. You may petition the B.S.W. program director for a waiver. Up to 6 hours of work taken at another institution may be accepted as part of the last 30 hours, if the hours are not in required social work courses.
Student Advancement Policy
Refer to the student handbook (http://socwel.ku.edu/resources/forstudents/academic-handbooks) for specific information.

Advising
Once a student is admitted to the School of Social Welfare, a member of the School’s faculty is assigned as a professional/career advisor. In addition, an academic will be able to assist students in the enrollment process, filling out enrollment forms and other academic program requirements. Students consult with their academic advisor before enrollment each semester and have their advising hold removed by the B.S.W. program office. Current students can view their advisors on the Kyou portal (https://my.ku.edu/uPortal/f/u562101t3s4/normal/render.uP).

Transfer of Credit
CredTran is a transfer course equivalency system that lists more than 2,200 colleges and universities from which KU has accepted transfer courses in the past. If your school or course is not listed, your evaluation will be completed when you are admitted to KU.

Transfer of credit allows specific course work from other accredited colleges or universities to count toward the B.S.W. degree. Decisions to accept prior credits are made by KU’s transcript evaluator during the admission process. Exceptions must be petitioned through the B.S.W. director. Petitions must be accompanied by a catalog description and a syllabus of the course and submitted at the time of application. Community college equivalents to KU courses are available from the school or through community college counselors. A maximum of 64 credit hours from a community college may be transferred toward the B.S.W. degree.

Prior Work Experience
In accordance with national curriculum policy, prior employment and life experience may not be credited toward classroom course work or practicum requirements.

Leave of Absence and Withdrawal
