Department of Visual Art

Welcome to Visual Art

The Department of Visual Art (http://art.ku.edu) at KU functions as a creative laboratory where students, mentored by a faculty of internationally recognized artists, explore a broad range of media and disciplines.

Housed in a major university, the department encourages the development of a unique artistic voice through critical inquiry and research. Students have the additional opportunity to pursue interdisciplinary and collaborative work across the School of the Arts, as well as the University at large. The University of Kansas is the school of choice for ambitious art students throughout the region. The Department of Visual Art provides students with the technical skill and cultural awareness essential to the careers of professional artists, scholars, teachers or administrators. Seminars on specialized topics, a strong visiting artist schedule, trips to major cities, and study abroad possibilities all enrich students studying Visual Art at the University of Kansas.

The University of Kansas is a member of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design (http://nasad.arts-accredit.org). The entrance and graduation requirements in this catalog conform to the published guidelines of those organizations.

Highly Qualified Faculty Scholars and Artists

The faculty of the Department of Visual Art is comprised of internationally recognized artists and scholars with interests that span a broad range of media and disciplines. Dedicated to educating the next generation of artists, award-winning teachers prioritize mentorship, offering students individual attention and small class sizes.

Most courses in Visual Art are studio, practice-based courses. Studio classes are typically capped at 15-20 students. All areas have classes that are open to non-majors. Three-credit courses normally meet in class for six hours weekly for 15 weeks of fall and spring semester; another nine hours of work is expected outside class. Studio areas are open and accessible.

Undergraduate Programs

Undergraduate Degrees

The department offers undergraduate degree programs leading to a Bachelor of Arts in Visual Art, a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Visual Art, a Bachelor of Fine Arts in History of Art, a Bachelor of Art Education, and a Visual Art minor.

All our degrees allow students to design an academic experience tailored to their interests and goals. By choosing and combining courses from across a variety of studio areas, students direct their own educational path. The degree provides an immersive academic experience in which students master the fundamentals of the form. Through advanced coursework, students explore the nuances of artistic avenues that best complement their professional and creative goals. The degrees prepare students for careers as teachers or administrators in a variety of settings including public schools, arts agencies, art museums, community centers and other venues.

Advising

Students admitted to work toward B.F.A., B.A., or B.A.E. degrees are advised by the academic advisor in Visual Art in combination with faculty members in their chosen concentration. Check sheets describing each program in complete detail are available from the Visual Art main office, 300 Chalmers Hall, or online (http://art.ku.edu). History of Art, information is available from the Kress Foundation Department of Art History (http:// www2.ku.edu/~7Ekurarthis). Students are encouraged to seek advice from any faculty member in a specific area of interest.

Students are expected to spend time outside of class working in the studio. For each credit hour in class another three hours of work will be expected outside of class time. It is normally expected that for 3 credit hours of studio a student will spend 9-15 hours per week working and studying for the entire 16 weeks during the semester.

Graduate Programs

The Department of Visual Art offers graduate programs leading to the Master of Fine Arts degree in visual art. Concentrations include ceramics, drawing and painting, expanded media, fibers, metalsmithing and jewelry, printmaking, and sculpture.
