Master of Science in Journalism

Graduation requirements and regulations for every academic program are provided in this catalog. Degree requirements and course descriptions are subject to change. In most cases, you will use the catalog of the year you entered KU (see your advisor for details). Other years’ catalogs (http://catalog.ku.edu/archives).

Graduate Admission

Admission is based primarily on the student’s undergraduate record, references, and writing samples. Applicants who have baccalaureate degrees in journalism, as well as those with no academic or professional background in journalism, are eligible to apply for the Mass Communications Program on the Lawrence Campus or the Integrated Marketing Communications (IMC) (http://edwardscampus.ku.edu/overview-masters-integrated-marketing-communications) course of study on the KU Edwards Campus (http://edwardscampus.ku.edu).

Applicants for the Integrated Marketing Communications (IMC) course of study are also evaluated on their professional experience.

Applications

Application Deadlines

The School has a "rolling admission process." Students may enter the Mass Communications program in fall or spring semesters. Students interested in Graduate Teaching Assistant positions, scholarships and awards should apply by January 1.

Students may enter the Integrated Marketing Communications program year-round; fall, spring, or summer. Applicants to the Integrated Marketing Communications program may apply for fall admission by the deadline of June 1. The priority application deadline for the spring, which begins in January, is the preceding November 1. The priority application deadline for the summer, which begins in June, is the preceding February 1.

Application Materials

Applications can be considered only after these items have been submitted:

1. A completed online graduate application (http://www.graduate.ku.edu/ku-graduate-application?).
2. An official transcript of all college-level courses from each college or university attended.
3. Three letters of reference from persons familiar with the applicant’s abilities. At least one academic reference is preferred and required for those who graduated within the past five years.
4. A written, 250-word statement of the applicant’s academic and professional objectives.
5. A current résumé.
6. Applicants for the Mass Communications program must include two writing samples.
7. Applicants for the Integrated Marketing Communications course of study must include three samples of professional work that reflect the applicant’s years of experience.
8. Nonrefundable application fee payable online to the University of Kansas.
9. International students whose native language is not English also must submit Test of English as a Foreign Language examination scores or International English Language Testing System examination scores.
10. International students must submit proof that they have the financial resources to cover annual expenses.

Submit your graduate application online (http://www.graduate.ku.edu/ku-graduate-application?). Applicants to Mass Communications and the M.S. in journalism/J.D. program should send official transcripts of all college and university course work to the school:

M.S. in Journalism

The Journalism School offers four M.S. options: Mass Communications (Lawrence campus), Digital Content Strategy (Online), Integrated Marketing Communications (p. 2) (KU Edwards Campus in Overland Park), and the Joint M.S.-J.D. degree.

Mass Communications

This track is focused on deeper, theoretical understanding of the professions of the media. Students with an interest in professional performance may take 2 courses in which they design 1 or more professional projects. To earn the degree, a student must complete 37 graduate credit hours with at least a B (3.0) average. Each student must complete and pass a general examination of the thesis. The thesis defense constitutes the final general examination.

Major Components of 37-Hour Requirement

The student entering the program takes

- 19 hours in core courses in First Amendment, Finance and Leadership, Mass Media, and Mass Communications and Methodology, including statistics.
- 6 hours in JOUR 840 seminars.
- 6 hours in a concentration (such as Sports Management, Health Communications, or Communication Studies) either inside or outside the school. The student may elect to design and produce 1 or 2 professional projects (such as a series of in-depth news stories or media business cases) as a concentration.
- 1 additional 3-hour elective.
The student also completes an acceptable project/thesis (JOUR 899) for 3 hours.

Core Course Requirements
The core graduate courses help students develop strong research and critical-thinking skills. 5 courses and 1 lab are required:

- EPSY 710  Introduction to Statistical Analysis  3
- EPSY 711  Lab for Introduction to Statistical Analysis  1
- JOUR 801  Research I: Theory  3
- JOUR 802  Research II: Methods  3
- JOUR 803  Survey of Mass Media and Popular Culture  3
- JOUR 818  Advanced Studies in First Amendment  3

Concentration/Professional Skills Requirements
The student develops an area of concentration of 6 hours either inside the Journalism School or in another school or department with the consent of the student’s advisor and the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies (ADGS), for example, 2 courses in sports management, or communication studies and psychology.

Alternatively, the student may enroll in JOUR 851 and JOUR 852 (Professional Skills). The student develops and produces a master’s-level professionally based project or projects with the approval of the advisor and ADGS. The projects help the student expand and advance professional skills.

Advanced Course Requirements
The student completes 2 JOUR 840 seminars, 1 graduate-level elective, and an acceptable project/thesis:

- JOUR 840  Seminar in:  3
- JOUR 840  Seminar in:  3
- JOUR 899  Master’s Project/Thesis  3
- Elective  3

General Examination
Each student must pass an oral examination of the thesis, which constitutes the final general examination. That examination must cover the totality of the student’s master’s experience. The examination will be given and evaluated by a committee of 3 graduate faculty members who serve on the student’s thesis committee.

Enrollment Requirements after Completing Course Requirements
There is no requirement for continuous enrollment after courses are completed and prior to completing the thesis. Students must be enrolled in at least 1 hour of credit in the semester in which they graduate.

A student must complete the M.S.J. degree within 7 years of admission.

Integrated Marketing Communications (IMC)
The Integrated Marketing Communications (http://edwardscampus.ku.edu/prospective/graduate/marketing.shtml) course of study is offered on the KU Edwards Campus (http://edwardscampus.ku.edu), 12600 Quivira Rd., Overland Park, KS 66213, 913-897-8416. For more information contact mtidwell@ku.edu and www.imc.ku.edu.

Course Requirements
A student must complete 30 hours of credit with at least a B (3.0) average. A student takes 12 hours of core courses and 18 hours of professional courses. A student must complete the master's degree program within 7 years of admission.

Outside Courses
A student may take up to 9 credit hours outside the school. Any student who wants to take an elective course outside the school must have permission from the instructor of the course, the school offering the course, and the graduate director of the journalism school prior to enrolling in the course. The student should be prepared to indicate how the course contributes to the master’s program. Submission of a course description or syllabus from the course may be required for approval.

Final General Examination
Each student must pass a final general examination before graduating. This examination is part of the capstone course. The examination occurs during the oral presentation before the client and faculty.

Online Digital Content Strategy

Application

- Application Deadlines: Priority – October 1 | Late – February 1
- One official transcript of all college-level courses. (from each college attended) Expected GPA: 3.0 or above. Submit to gapc@ku.edu.
- A current resume
- Two letters of reference from persons familiar with the student’s academic or professional work or potential for graduate study
- Applicants must also submit two writing samples or samples of professional work that reflect your years of experience
- International students are required to submit TOEFL scores
- International students are required to submit evidence of financial support

Our new online Master’s Program in Digital Content Strategy trains graduates to find, use and analyze information and data to solve organizational problems. You will build skills you can use immediately while broadening your thinking and encouraging a mindset for adapting to the ever-changing digital landscape.

With certificates in Social Media Strategy and Data Interpretation and Communication, you can become the information expert in your organization. As a digital troubleshooter, you will be able to bridge the gap between those with big ideas but little understanding of how to turn those ideas into reality and those with technical skills who lack the broader vision needed to move beyond the status quo.

Program Requirements

The online program is divided into two certificates. The master’s degree is earned by completing both certificates, but students may choose to earn just one certificate. Students may work on either of these certificates independently, building credentials even before they complete a master’s degree. All classes are online. The program requires 30 hours of coursework to earn a master's degree.

- The program starts with Information Insight I, which introduces students to online learning, explores the concepts, problems and opportunities in digital content strategy, and lays the foundation for further program work, including work on a possible capstone project. All students must take this course.
- After completing the introductory course, students take courses in the social media sequence, the data communication sequence, or both. All courses are eight weeks.

- After completing both certificates, students enroll in Information Insight II, an eight-week summer course in which they complete a capstone project.

Joint M.S.J.-J.D.

The joint M.S. in journalism and J.D. degree program combines into approximately 3½ years of full-time study the Master of Science in journalism and the Juris Doctor (http://catalog.ku.edu/law) programs offered by the School of Journalism and Mass Communications and the KU School of Law. The joint degree program offers students academic grounding in both disciplines to prepare them for the professional practice of journalism, law, or media law.
