Thesis Option

The thesis is an original piece of research and a contribution to the scholarly literature. It is smaller in scale than a doctoral dissertation and is not expected to have a comparable impact on the field. Theses typically range in length from 50 to 100 pages, divided into chapters, and are available to the public.

Article Option

The article option is intended for students who plan to extend their research project to the doctoral level or other continued professional activity. The article is an original piece of research and should be around 8,000 words in length. It should be written and formatted for submission to a scholarly, peer-reviewed journal relevant to the topic and approach of the research. The article does not have to be accepted for publication as a requirement for graduation.

The Defense/M.A. Examination

The student must complete an oral defense of either the article or the thesis. The final exam committee, chosen by the student, must have at least four members; at least two from the Urban Planning area and at least two from the American Studies area. Optimally, committee members should be provided a draft of the project at least one month prior to the defense date. A majority of the committee members must approve the defense with an assessment of Pass or Pass with Honors in order for the requirement to be met.

Course Level Requirement

Students pursuing a dual M.U.P. and M.A. in American Studies must take 50% or more of their coursework at the 700 level or above. Core courses and thesis hours (if applicable) count toward this requirement.

Handbook

Further details about meeting the degree requirements can be found in each department's Graduate Student Handbook. Students are also encouraged to review Graduate Studies' policies (<https://ogs.ku.edu/policies/>) related to master's degrees for information about other requirements that may apply.

If a student decides to complete only the M.A. or M.U.P. and withdraw from the other program, they must complete all requirements for the stand-alone degree.
