MASTER OF ARTS IN GERMAN STUDIES

Overview
Work toward the M.A. degree consists of a traditional curriculum providing important foundational knowledge. The curriculum includes historical surveys of the major literary periods and genres, of the structure and function of German and Germanic languages, knowledge of disciplinary methodologies employed in the field, development of language capacity, and control of writing and research strategies.

Departmental Funding
While it is not guaranteed, the department does its best to provide funding in the form of Graduate Teaching Assistantship (GTA) appointments to all incoming graduate students. GTA appointments are awarded for the academic year and come with:

- a competitive academic year (9 month) salary
- a 100% tuition waiver for all courses at KU
- payment of up to 3 hours of student fees
- optional University-subsidized group health insurance

The appointments are guaranteed based on performance for up to 3 years for M.A. students, and 6 years for students who receive both an M.A. and a Ph.D. at The University of Kansas. GTAs in the department receive thorough training in language instruction, close mentoring, and the opportunity to teach French at a variety of levels, providing them with a strong base of teaching experience upon entering the job market.

Additional information about teaching for the department is available on the Graduate Funding page (https://germanic.drupal.ku.edu/gta-appointments-and-fellowships) of our departmental website.

Post-comprehensive students completing their dissertations are also eligible to apply for 1 of the the departmental Max Kade Dissertation Fellowships.

Additional Funding
There are also university fellowships for truly outstanding students. Visit the Graduate Studies website for information about funding opportunities (http://graduate.ku.edu/funding) for KU graduate students.

1 This German Studies Topics course is offered with specific topics and subtitles as needed in different semesters. Each semester it will cover key topics in German Studies and represents the expertise of faculty in the department as well as department-affiliated faculty. See current Graduate Student Handbook for possible topics.

First Year Plan of Study:

1st semester: Students choose a graduate advisor and begin compiling a course-based individual reading list. The reading list should consist of twenty primary and secondary works approved by the advisor.

2nd semester: Students declare their choice of thesis, non-thesis or project option and organize their reading list accordingly with the assistance of their advisor.

Thesis Option Exam

The Master’s Thesis (50 pages minimum) consists of a scholarly analysis of a chosen topic that is derived from a term paper and expanded to contribute new insights to the discourse surrounding the topic. Students enroll in German 899 Master’s Thesis during their third and fourth semesters (6 credits total) to develop and complete their thesis under the direction of a graduate faculty advisor.

Variant within the non-thesis track: Master’s Project

The Master’s Project (30 pages minimum) provides the opportunity to combine scholarly and practical learning. The project, which may be developed from an internship or a broader topic, such as digital Humanities, must be approved in advance by a graduate faculty advisor with whom the student enrolls in GERM 898 Master’s Project (3 credits).
